Mississauga, Canada based "Software as a Service" (SaaS) start-up, SystemX is launching a behemoth, cloud-based Business Management Platform (BMP) platform for consultants and project managers.

MISSISSAUGA, August 10, 2021 /PRNewswire/ -- SystemX, has developed a new Business Management Platform (BMP) is now ready to launch its fully customizable, cloud-based platform for technology consultants and project managers.

Managing projects is like completing a Rubik's cube - you have to keep several elements of the project at the top of your mind, while also considering multiple different outcomes and how long the route to completion will take. The two acronyms that are the foundation of robust project management are SMART and CLEAR. "SMART" means specific, measurable, attainable, relevant, and time-bound. Whereas, "CLEAR" means collaborative, limited, emotional, appreciable, and refinable.

"We are excited to launch the Business Management Platform (BMP) to give project managers across the globe with weapons to tackle projects with accurate business reporting at its core," said Artemy Kirnichansky, P.Eng., CEO of SystemX.

"As an IT project manager and entrepreneur, I faced a lot of challenges with work-life balance and keeping various projects organized, team members focused and accountable, and managing administrative tasks using different reporting tools. This took a toll on not just business, but personal life. I knew I was not alone. I had a vision and now a reality with the BRP to address just that," says Artemy Kirnichansky.

The BMP brings all essential business management tasks and project management, in an all-in-one platform integrated with existing SaaS platforms like Zappier, Maximizer CRM, AccPac, QuickBooks, Crystal Reports, Sisense Insight, and Microsoft Office 365 to name a few. Its core strength lies in solving common project management problems regarding tracking of milestones, billable hours to clients, expense tracking, file storage for each project, managing project team, and managing administrative tasks.

The Business Management Platform (BMP) allows consultants and project managers to organize and access all business-critical information such as quotes, projects, files, time sheets, expenses in one place avoiding leaked revenue due to unaccounted billable time. The BRP was designed with today's consultant in mind adds value by addressing problems like budget fluctuations, scope creep, revenue leak, team management, conflict resolution and communication.

The Business Management Platform (BMP) can serve as the most mission critical hub for consultants that are focused on achieving highest level of productivity and accountability.
